MOORE, FROST HOST MILLBURY STUDENTS AT ANNUAL STUDENT GOVERNMENT DAY

Boston – On Friday April 3, Senator Michael O. Moore (D-Millbury) and Representative Paul K. Frost (R-Auburn) hosted Millbury High School students Peter Bott and Christopher Naff as well as Millbury residents Thomas Kennedy of Holy Name Central Catholic High School and Chad McCarthy of Blackstone Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School at the State House for the 62nd annual Student Government Day. Over 200 juniors and seniors from high schools across the Commonwealth participated in a first-hand lesson in state government.

“I was happy to have the opportunity to meet with students interested in learning about the Legislative process,” said Senator Moore. “Student Government day is a great opportunity for these students gain an understanding of the day to day activities and responsibilities of Legislators. I congratulate them on being selected to represent their school and for their willingness to get involved.”

Rep. Frost said, “I enjoy participating in this endeavor and meeting up with these fine young students every year. It is a pleasure meeting them as they get a taste of what state government is all about.” Frost commented further, “It was great to welcome Peter, Christopher, Thomas and Chad to the State House and I trust they all took a lot away from this positive experience.”

The 62nd annual event allows student participants to take on the roles of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Legislators, Constitutional Officers, and court justices. Throughout the day, students held a simulated student joint committee hearing, and participated in mock formal sessions of the Senate and House.
